1. Senator Pastore has asked for examples of past intelligence judgments that have "saved the US lots of money." We will be asked to provide same.

2. Mr. Proctor reminded the group that the briefing book for the DCI is due today and that if anyone has contributions they should be given to [REDACTED] by 1500 hours.

3. The group discussed at length the draft paper on the Advancement Opportunities Program. A number of critiques and suggestions were made largely by Messrs. Eisenbeiss and [REDACTED]. As an interim measure, [REDACTED] will draft a notice that highlights the problem, reviews the experience in certain offices, and encourages those who believe they have the ability to move out of the clerical track to explore the possibilities with their supervisors. Mr. Proctor asked each office to submit a report by 10 May on the numbers of clericals who have moved into professional ranks for calendar years 1971, 1972, and 1973.

4. Mr. Walsh announced that among the Agency's nominees for the next running of the Federal Executive Institute are [REDACTED] and [REDACTED] with [REDACTED] the alternate. [REDACTED] will attend the three-week FEI course in January.
